BUTTERFLY HOST plants

Butterflies like warm, calm days. Look for them on flowers, basking in the sun, laying eggs on caterpillar host plants or gathering at mud puddles.

When planting flowers to attract butterflies, plant masses of plants rather than single specimens. Plant flowers in the sun and if possible, close to a natural windbreak, such as a tree or bush.

DO NOT use pesticides. These chemicals kill the good as well as the bad bugs.

Offer overripe fruit, a mud puddle for nutrients, and large, light-colored stones for basking.
